
Subject: Thank Goodness for on line ordering
Posted by gofar99 on Tue, 28 Apr 2020 20:57:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Everyone, The present times have created a lot of difficulties. Most retail locations are closed and those that are open don't always have what you really, really need. We had a "catastrophic" event two days ago..... our long suffering Bunn coffee maker started to make serious noises that were not normal. Essentially it crapped out. 11 years is a pretty good run on coffee makers here. The previous experience has been for other brands about 2 years. We even use filtered water to extend the life. Thus a quick check of local vendors and none carried the replacement in store. Bummer, deprivation was on the horizon. :? While I am not completely in admiration of Amazon they did have them. Zap the credit card and two days later a new coffee maker appears. :) Thanks. I hope you all have few debacles during the current times and can solve them as easily as we did. :roll:

Subject: Re: Thank Goodness for on line ordering
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 28 Apr 2020 21:22:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sweet!

Actually made your repair job easier, sounds like! Click and go! Parts arrive a few days later. Bada-bing, bada-boom!

Subject: Re: Thank Goodness for on line ordering
Posted by Kingfish on Mon, 18 May 2020 10:57:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Amazon has it's uses. When you have something that is sort of a specialty item, Amazon is the go-to because there are thousands of stores in there. The Wal-Marts of the world are good for the basics.
