Subject: Raycon brand
Posted by sammi40 on Wed, 21 Oct 2020 12:41:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My kids have asked for Raycon wireless earbuds for Christmas. I've never heard of this brand. They are cheaper than Apple Airbuds is about all I know. Anyone have any first hand experience with this brand? Thoughts?

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by Strum Drum on Thu, 22 Oct 2020 14:34:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have the E55s and I mostly like them for their fit. They aren't superior in any other way and your kids are pumped about them because of the concentrated marketing blitz on social media. They also lay flat so they look good in selfies. Some styles are just as expensive as AirPods. The sound quality is good, but nothing spectacular. If your kids enjoy a thumping bass then they'll probably like them. They charge quickly and the battery lasts a good five to six hours.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by Mica on Thu, 22 Oct 2020 19:02:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have been seeing ads pop up everywhere for these too. My son wants a pair. I found some for under $80. From the sounds of it, I might want to look around at the other styles.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by sammi40 on Thu, 22 Oct 2020 21:23:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I guess I need to look at these a bit better. I didn't realize that there were a bunch of different styles. I saw some for around 80 bucks too. The kids do love a lot of bass pounding in their ears!

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by Lost the Remote on Fri, 23 Oct 2020 23:24:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have the colorful E70s and I enjoy them. Most people who complain about this type, do so because they aren't great for making and accepting calls. I only use mine for music and I'm happy with them. I got mine as a gift though; I had no idea that they could be costly. I have to say that they do make a great gift. Their packaging is nice. It makes you feel like you're opening up something special.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by sammi40 on Thu, 12 Nov 2020 20:33:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My kids would use them for music too. They don't need them for making calls. Heck, do kids even talk on the phone anymore? Mine text and that is about it.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by Raymond on Sun, 21 Feb 2021 01:38:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My brother has a pair, and he really likes them. I've seen lots of ads for them, and a lot of YouTubers have had their videos sponsored by Raycon. But I'm skeptical of them, especially because there are other alternatives on the market that aren't as expensive.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by sammi40 on Wed, 24 Feb 2021 01:02:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We actually bought them and so far they are good. They actually aren't as expensive as some of the other brands out there. My kids are kind of tough on things but these have held up. It's only been a couple of months though.

Subject: Re: Raycon brand
Posted by Souldude on Wed, 10 Mar 2021 15:16:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've read that these earbuds may be suitable for exercising since it is lightweight and also sweat-resistance. However, it has its inconvenience because you'll have to make an effort to press the buttons just to change the volume. There'd be no problem if your kids are fine with that though.