
Subject: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by johnnycamp5 on Tue, 06 Oct 2020 19:59:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

RIP Eddie Van Halen :(

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by Rusty on Tue, 06 Oct 2020 20:19:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

He don't drive 65 no more, ending at that ripe old age. Said throat cancer metastasized to his brain. He claimed it was a metal pick he used to hold in his mouth years ago. Eddie was a heavy smoker. So, unless the pick was lead or uranium I dunno about that Eddie. Sorry just the same. My age group and all.

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by johnnycamp5 on Tue, 06 Oct 2020 23:14:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you liked Van Halen....
As much as everyone loves "Eruption" and so do I.... for me it was really Eddie's phrasing (not just swift fingers) that I found most exhilarating....

This was always one of my favorites, but just the last 20 seconds kind of says it all-

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=l7rS3itMibE>

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by Nouri on Fri, 09 Oct 2020 11:45:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I was never was a HUGE fan, but I did like some of the stuff they did. But with Eddie, if you love music in general as I do, you have to tip your hat. He changed the way people look at guitar players the way Jimi Hendrix did. That, and he was brilliant technically.

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by Kingfish on Tue, 20 Oct 2020 00:18:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What else can 2020 do to us? :(

Alot of their music was just fantastic. Eddie truly is one of those talents that can never be replaced.

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by Porter on Thu, 22 Oct 2020 05:11:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Renowned guitarist Eddie Van Halen passed away from cancer on October the 6th. There are few guitar players that could steal the light from the band's lead singer and Eddie was one of them. He developed new techniques that made his sound unique and his fast fingers were something to behold. I think one of the songs that helped solidify him as a guitar hero in my mind was Unchained with its mesmerizing riffs. You?

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by Mica on Thu, 22 Oct 2020 19:05:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Eddie Van Halen was nothing short of amazing! You are right, he could steal the show at any given time. It was a shock to hear of his passing. I love that Sirius radio has a tribute Van Halen station right now.

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by The Noise on Fri, 23 Oct 2020 01:09:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The best thing about musicians is that what they create will last forever. Did he have more creativity in him that was cut short? We'll never know, but we can enjoy what he left us.

Subject: Re: RIP Eddie Van Halen - End of a legend
Posted by johnnycamp5 on Sat, 24 Oct 2020 18:48:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The Noise wrote on Thu, 22 October 2020 21:09The best thing about musicians is that what they create will last forever. Did he have more creativity in him that was cut short? We'll never know, but we can enjoy what he left us.

From what I understand their 2011 album "A different kind of truth" was basically a bunch of unused stuff from the late 70's early 80's.

Still really cool stuff composed by Eddie....but don't think you can crank it up and rock out on your Hifi system..... its squashed to hell!

Im not sure if it was tracked that way, or just mastered that way.

If only mastered with DRC (dynamic range compression) then it can always be "Re-mastered".

Too bad it fell victim to the "loudness war",

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3WfQ-hV3WtA>
