Sometimes I like to experiment with the music I listen to. Like staggering the same song five seconds apart in different rooms. The later song can sound like an echo of sorts to the first one.

Anyone else do anything like this? Or am I the weird one. 8)

I haven't tried this, but it reminds me of those edited videos where random clips have been compiled to make a certain sound. The randomness of the compilations made it funny however, it still managed to generate a piece of decent music.

I have never tried this. I can't say you are odd but I don't think it is something I would try either. It reminds me of singing Row Your Boat as a child. We did it in stereo.
