Subject: A Certain Kind Of Juxtaposition
Posted by Kingfish on Mon, 12 Apr 2021 14:08:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On the internet, I found a Ham radio station in the Netherlands that plays dance beats/music 24/7. I also found a station a few hundred miles away from me that was just static. Another one a little over a thousand miles away that played nothing.

I just find it fun sometimes to randomly try things that may or may not work, then finding a certain juxtaposition in it all.

Ham radio on the internet. What will they think of next?

Streema.com was the site.

Subject: Re: A Certain Kind Of Juxtaposition
Posted by Rusty on Mon, 12 Apr 2021 18:39:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Nice, that's a bookmark there. Found one reggae station in Colorado that played some decent roots reggae. The modern stuff is stink weed.

Subject: Re: A Certain Kind Of Juxtaposition
Posted by Concorde on Wed, 05 May 2021 18:39:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It is fun to just randomly station surf sometimes. Like panning for gold. I have been catching up on my true crime podcast episodes though.