Subject: Any new movies
Posted by Patrick69 on Sat, 22 May 2021 23:37:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Now that things are opening back up, is anyone interested in any new movie? Will you be going back to the theaters? I love movies, so I will. I haven't heard of anything fantastic yet.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Leot55 on Fri, 28 May 2021 12:44:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My wife and have been vaccinated, so we're going to brave the movie theater in order to see A Quiet Place II later today. The theater is still requiring masks, which is fine. I just want to see the show.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Strum Drum on Sat, 29 May 2021 15:35:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I saw A Quiet Place Part II yesterday, and it did not disappoint. I don't want to give anything way, so I'll talk about my favorite character instead. In the sequel, Emily Blunt still brings that perfect combination of badass heroine and frightened mother who is protecting herself and those she loves from the creatures out to get them. Blunt is outstanding! I bet she'll rack up some awards for her performance.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Madison on Sat, 29 May 2021 21:34:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm dying to see that film, but I'm going to wait the 28 or so days until it's available for streaming. I'm cool with going to an outdoor concert, but sitting in a crowded indoor theater is pushing it.

We streamed Cruella for the girls, and it's pretty intense. I think it's one of Disney's best, probably because it's a prequel instead of a remake. Both Emmas killed it! I'm not used to seeing either lady as a cold as ice character, but they each managed to bring their best, uh worst, to the table. I'm glad we watched it at home, because it might've been too intense in the theater on the big screen.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Leot55 on Fri, 04 Jun 2021 16:53:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

American Traitor is an entertaining watch if you can go along with rooting for a Nazi sympathizer. Had the movie been released during a different time, I probably would have enjoyed it more.
Strum Drum wrote on Sat, 29 May 2021 10:35I saw A Quiet Place Part II yesterday, and it did not disappoint.
I agree. It's one of the best sequels I've encountered.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Raymond on Tue, 06 Jul 2021 12:48:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I went and saw Luca in the theater. It is a really cute story and it was a nice film. I'm not sure how often I'm going to go out and see a movie, especially with the Delta variant, but seeing Luca was a nice treat.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Beck on Sun, 15 Aug 2021 14:59:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've become used to waiting for new movies on Netflix, and going to the theater barely comes to mind now. The experience is far from going to the cinema, but it's the safest way to enjoy a movie given the current situation. Although, it's enjoyable that some shows act as a support to the series.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Rusty on Sun, 15 Aug 2021 16:54:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There's a movie out now starring Nicholas Cage called Pig. Sounds kinda interesting. So long as it doesn't become too touchy feely. He's a recluse with a truffle's sniffing pig. It gets taken from him. I don't think he becomes a Rambo type extracting revenge though.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Madison on Thu, 19 Aug 2021 18:09:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You should watch it, Rusty. That film has surprising depth. I wouldn't say it's overly touchy-feely, so you'll be okay there. Nicolas Cage proved that he can still carry a show.

Subject: Re: Any new movies
Posted by Rusty on Thu, 19 Aug 2021 19:22:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks Madison. That's what intrigued me about the movie. A way different subject matter other than comic book characters and revenge plots with the hero taking on two dozen guys at the same time. I wonder if theaters have matinee's anymore?