I was wondering if someone could give me some advice. I have a 1981 Bang & Olufsen turntable in working order. I no longer use it. I am trying to find out what it is worth by looking at ebay, amazon, google, etc. But I can't really pin it down. All I can find on the unit is the number "5712" on the bottom, which isnt the model number from what I am told since no Beo 5712 exists....A little help?

Post a photo. Maybe someone can identify it that way.

Sorry but I don't think you will find that info on here. This is more about discussing things audio than things price wise. I would suggest you try Audiogon; they have a blue-book service that should get you a nominal value.

Keep us in mind when you want to shoot the breeze about stereo stuff; I didn't mean to suggest you can't speak openly about money I just mean't to say there might not be much info.
