

---

Subject: My Cat Snores

Posted by gofar99 on Fri, 21 Oct 2022 01:50:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yup...he sure does. He is an all black medium fur 13 year old that loves to hang out next to my PC when I am using it. About half the time he sleeps on the main area in front of the monitor. I fortunately have a second blue tooth keyboard and can still use the PC. About one time in five he sleeps so soundly that he snores. It is sort of a combination hum and whistle. He also sleeps under my one test meter as in the photo. He was trying to figure out what I was doing when I took that photo. Anyone else have funny animal stories?

---

File Attachments

1) Cat.jpg, downloaded 180 times

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by Rusty on Fri, 21 Oct 2022 12:46:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Seems no matter what you may be doing, a critter, cat, dog will be right there to investigate and get your undivided attention. I had a rust colored Doberman, hence my handle here and he was nothin more than a big old lap dog. Except he weighed close to 100 pounds. Sweetest disposition but formidable looking too. If I was sitting on the couch watching the boob toob. That hound would come up to me, turn around, back up and plop his rear end on my knee and just sit there. His two hind legs suspended from the ground wobbling to and fro. Watching right along with me. I eventually started making that backup sound that trucks use when they put er in reverse when Rusty would commence to plop his ass on my knee. He was one gone hound.

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by Barryso on Fri, 21 Oct 2022 21:48:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Had a Scottish Terrier years back that would have really vivid dreams and he'd make all sorts of noises and motions. All while still asleep.

It didn't happen all that often but it'd go on a few times a year.

Always wondered what he was dreaming about.

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by gofar99 on Sat, 22 Oct 2022 02:31:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi, A long time ago I had a dog that would roll over on his back and "run" in his sleep. It was hysterical to watch. :lol:

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by Rusty on Sat, 22 Oct 2022 15:41:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There's some channel that shows wonderful animal antics that people record. Hysterical sometimes. There was a time that the consensus was that animals were just "dumb animals". Fortunately that has been overwhelmingly disproven. They put us to shame in many ways.

"Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree, discussing things as are said to be."

The Fabulous Thunderbirds, The Monkey Speaks His Mind song.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vLat4bHOIhs>

"Man descended, the worthless bum. From our race brotha, he did not come."

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by Rusty on Wed, 26 Oct 2022 16:18:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Follow up for creative critters doing clever things. An article on The Guardian. Dog walks like a human and other precocious pets. The lead story is a riot. A dog injured as a pup taught itself how to walk on two legs. A star is born.

<https://www.theguardian.com/lifeandstyle/2022/oct/22/the-dog-that-walks-like-a-human-and-other-precocious-pets-duck-cat-parrot>

I had a Brittany spaniel as a child. They are smart hounds. He learned how to open the screen door by himself with his muzzle. And to ask to go out. Saying ouuuuuuuut!

---

---

Subject: Re: My Cat Snores

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 27 Oct 2022 13:30:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's hysterical!

My wife, Kelly, loves to watch silly little pet videos. She shows me some of 'em sometimes and they really are a hoot!

---