My kids want to game together on separate TVs (we're keeping them separate because one has COVID while the other doesn't). What's the trick to running a game on two different TVs at the same time? Is it even possible?

There are a few ways to go about this, but the easiest method by far is to use an HDMI splitter. There'll probably be a miniscule amount of lag, but that's true for all the other methods, too. I hope your kid gets better soon.

I hope that your kiddo is feeling better. Gaming on two devices is so much easier to do on two computers. Then you can mirror the screen. There's much less fuss that way, if it's an option.
