Subject: Movies on the Bus
Posted by Beck on Sun, 21 May 2023 12:49:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I feel nauseous when watching a movie on the bus. But then, it feels boring when it's the only thing you can do. What's a film that you remember watching during a long ride?

Subject: Re: Movies on the Bus
Posted by noodle on Wed, 07 Jun 2023 18:20:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm the same as you. I easily get motion sickness on buses. No movies, TV shows, or reading material while riding the bus. Reading or answering really short texts, fine.

Subject: Re: Movies on the Bus
Posted by Leot55 on Tue, 25 Jul 2023 01:39:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It doesn't bother me at all to watch programs while I'm in motion. It feels like time goes faster when I pop in a film on the way. I remember watching the Home Alone franchise series while riding on Greyhound several years ago. Each seat had its own viewing screen. I thought it was pretty neat. Of course, today I'd likely use my phone or tablet to view a show, but back then, it was really cool to see that feature on the bus.

Subject: Re: Movies on the Bus
Posted by Kingfish on Sat, 29 Jul 2023 21:58:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The last time I took a long ride, the option of watching a movie wasn't an option. :lol:

When I was a passenger during the days I took Greyhounds cross country, the scenery was a movie and my thoughts were the narrator to some PBS nature documentary. 8)

If not that, I read a lot.

Subject: Re: Movies on the Bus
Posted by Becky on Sun, 28 Sep 2025 04:50:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The first time that I watched "The Shape of Water" was in a bus heading to see my parents. I think that was around 2019 and I was a bit bored since I was travelling alone.

I gotta go on the internet looking for a movie that can keep me busy and that was how I came across the movie. Truly, I didn't regret every minute that I spent watching that movie while on that trip.