

---

Subject: Voice Actors

Posted by Echo on Fri, 05 Apr 2024 15:01:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

What do you think about the importance of voice actors in movies when it's a non-human character? In my opinion, the actor can make or break the character and is capable of making you either love or hate the movie/TV show.

One example comes to mind: Smaug, the dragon in The Hobbit. I think Benedict Cumberbatch did a brilliant job there.

What do you guys think?

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by AcousticJack on Thu, 11 Apr 2024 05:58:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I am not sure if it would "make or break" the character honestly, but voice actors are important to a certain extent. Everyone's taste is different, and while you think Smaug was done well, another person might hate that voice. I think it's subjective.

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Barryso on Fri, 12 Apr 2024 19:04:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

My favorite voice actors were from the 40's, 50's and 60's.

Most are in this article but in my opinion June Foray, Hans Conried, Bea Benaredet, Daws Butler and Paul Frees should have been much higher on the list. But they were the voices of my favorite cartoons and that's my bias.

Mel Blanc is listed as #1 and it's hard to argue that. He'd either be at the top or very near the top of any such list.

<https://www.imdb.com/list/ls092532075/>

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by noodle on Wed, 22 May 2024 20:04:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Agree that voice actors can make or break a movie or TV show. That said, it can get a bit distracting when I'm aware that a well-known actor is voicing a role; sometimes, I can't help imagining that person's face.

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Strum Drum on Sat, 06 Jul 2024 07:49:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

noodle wrote on Wed, 22 May 2024 15:04 Agree that voice actors can make or break a movie or TV show. That said, it can get a bit distracting when I'm aware that a well-known actor is voicing a role; sometimes, I can't help imagining that person's face.

I'm rarely able to identify which actor it is. I think it's maybe happened once. I immediately recognized John Goodman as the voice of Sulley in Monsters, Inc. I believe that's it. I'm impressed that you're able to pick them out.

I agree with you, OP. Even though the show won a lot of awards, I still feel that casting Beyoncé as Nala was a big mistake.

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Rusty on Sun, 07 Jul 2024 13:26:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It's kinda important. Imagine Darth Vader's voice with Pee Wee Herman's rather than James Earl Jones.

Actually, I'd like to hear that.

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 07 Jul 2024 13:57:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Oh man, that's funny!

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by gofar99 on Mon, 08 Jul 2024 01:30:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Bugs Bunny perhaps :lol:

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Strum Drum on Thu, 18 Jul 2024 01:12:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Rusty wrote on Sun, 07 July 2024 08:26 It's kinda important. Imagine Darth Vader's voice with Pee Wee Herman's rather than James Earl Jones.

---

Yeah, obviously not, but I could see him as Jar Jar Binks. That would've been the perfect role for Peewee. I wonder what he's up to lately? He kind of fell off the Hollywood scene.

---

---

Subject: Re: Voice Actors

Posted by Rusty on Thu, 18 Jul 2024 11:00:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

He fell off life itself. He's passed on from this transient existence bout' a year ago now. One of America's unique oddball characters. His kiddy show was just that.

---