
Subject: Music and Mood

Posted by Kingfish on Thu, 02 Jan 2025 18:18:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

How much of a correlation between the two do you think there is? Personally, I think they tie together rather tightly. Some people don't see a correlation at all, while I can't see how they can't see it.

I use music constantly to reaffirm my moods or get me into a better mood.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by Rusty on Thu, 02 Jan 2025 20:48:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Like you, I find its correlated. Its what compels me what to rustle up during a phono session. I'll usually end up with a stack of albums on top of my big ole Theater 4 Pi's afterward. They do make a good platform for that. As well as divine listening. Sometimes my mood though can dictate no music at all.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by gofar99 on Sun, 05 Jan 2025 01:43:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I certainly think that music can influence mood. But at my age I have come to prefer quiet at least as much.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by The Noise on Sat, 11 Jan 2025 15:32:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think there is a direct correlation, albeit subtle. In my opinion, subtle influences like music on moods are the most potent influences. In a way, they're like words, as they can also influence people subtly.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by positron on Tue, 04 Feb 2025 05:48:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I agree as well. My mood can be altered pretty easily by the selections I choose.

cheers

pos

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by Chloe on Sun, 16 Mar 2025 21:54:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I fully agree with you. To me, music is a very important part of my life. The correlation that music and mood have is the reason why people will listen to upbeat songs when they work out. Or when you're sad, you may listen to sad music. I can't go a day without listening to some type of music.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by Strum Drum on Wed, 26 Mar 2025 07:55:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I try to exercise daily, and I have an upbeat playlist to pump me up when I'm just not in the mood to get off the couch. It helps motivate me every time. So, yeah, I can see the correlation there.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by Csharp on Tue, 20 May 2025 11:33:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

When you're down in the dumps about losing a lover, the last thing most people want to hear is a fast-paced fluffy dance tune. No, most of us want to wallow in it for a bit before moving on.

That's why that old Nazareth tune "Love Hurts" still gets airplay. We need sad songs for sad situations.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood

Posted by Concorde on Sat, 24 May 2025 01:02:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The following link is from Psychology Today, and answers the question quite nicely. It's 2 1/2 years old but it aged well. It didn't go into the science of music and the science of the brain, but it's still very informative.

<http://https://www.psychologytoday.com/us/blog/science-of-choice/202211/how-listening-to-music-affects-your-mood>

Subject: Re: Music and Mood
Posted by Airforce 3 on Sun, 01 Jun 2025 01:31:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Some people see music as a transference of energy from the creator to the listener. What we need to feel, we listen to.

If music does not effect your music, like it was designed to do, you might want to look into that.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood
Posted by George on Mon, 06 Oct 2025 13:21:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Listening to music sets me in the right mood. I don't bother about the worries of life whenever a cool rap song from 2 Pac or The Notorious BIG is playing. All I want to do at that moment is sing along.

Subject: Re: Music and Mood
Posted by Becky on Mon, 06 Oct 2025 15:43:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Without music, my mood will never align all the time. I love to play music when I'm moody, I love to play music when I'm happy and this goes with every other person. Music and mood are tied together and they also go together.
