I know that new radio stations come up yearly and most of the time, it is not always easy to find out about them early. Do you have any measures that you use when it has to do with finding new stations once they are out?

I don't know how to find new stations unless I was told or hear about the adverts. Sometimes, you tune the radio till you get the new stations.

I usually just use my phone or the radio app on my tablet. I like scrolling through the station list and checking out anything that looks interesting. Sometimes I'll just let it auto-scan and see what pops up, and if I hear something I like, I save it. Podcasts and online radio make it even easier to find new stuff too.
