Subject: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by George on Thu, 23 Oct 2025 15:39:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The speaker that I have in my shower needs to be replaced as some of the features that it has seem outdated.

So, I am looking for a new shower speaker that I can install in the bathroom. Specifically, it should have the waterproof feature and the buttons that can help me switch songs when I want to. Is there anyone that you currently use that you can recommend for me?

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by Prince on Tue, 11 Nov 2025 12:49:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I would recommend two for you. The first one is the Miatone Drum Shower Speaker that has the waterproof feature with a 15W loud sound. It also has Bluetooth 5.3 connectivity. My daughter has been making use of it at college and has sent zero complaints since I got it for her last year.

My wife got the JBL Clip 4 as a gift for me on my birthday a few months ago and while I've not used it for many years, the battery life of this device has been strong which is something that I commend the company for making.

Those two are great, and I feel you should check them out with the hope that one of them fits into your budget.

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by Becky on Thu, 13 Nov 2025 06:20:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh, I love having music in the shower! I'm using a JBL Clip 4 right now and it's super good. It's waterproof, has easy buttons for skipping songs and the sound is really clear for its size. I just hang it on the shower rack and it never slips or gets weird with the steam. I've also heard the Anker Soundcore Mini 3 is great too and a bit cheaper. Both hold a charge for a long time which is nice when you forget to plug it in for days like I do sometimes.

If you want something that looks a bit fancier, the Ultimate Ears WONDERBOOM 3 is another good one. It's completely waterproof and even floats, so you can use it by the pool too. I think it really depends on your budget but any of those would make shower time a lot more fun.

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by Prince on Thu, 20 Nov 2025 14:31:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Prince wrote on Tue, 11 November 2025 06:49I would recommend two for you. The first one is the Miatone Drum Shower Speaker that has the waterproof feature with a 15W loud sound. It also has Bluetooth 5.3 connectivity. My daughter has been making use of it at college and has sent zero complaints since I got it for her last year.

My wife got the JBL Clip 4 as a gift for me on my birthday a few months ago and while I've not used it for many years, the battery life of this device has been strong which is something that I commend the company for making.

Those two are great, and I feel you should check them out with the hope that one of them fits into your budget.
Did you later check any of them?

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by George on Thu, 20 Nov 2025 14:35:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Prince wrote on Thu, 20 November 2025 08:31Prince wrote on Tue, 11 November 2025 06:49I would recommend two for you. The first one is the Miatone Drum Shower Speaker that has the waterproof feature with a 15W loud sound. It also has Bluetooth 5.3 connectivity. My daughter has been making use of it at college and has sent zero complaints since I got it for her last year.

My wife got the JBL Clip 4 as a gift for me on my birthday a few months ago and while I've not used it for many years, the battery life of this device has been strong which is something that I commend the company for making.

Those two are great, and I feel you should check them out with the hope that one of them fits into your budget.
Did you later check any of them?

Thank you for your recommendations as I've had to check them out. I was watching a clip of the Miatone Drum Shower Speaker the other day and was impressed by some of the features such as the colorful lights that come with it, and the long-lasting battery that can last more than 18 hours after a single full charge.

It also shows that one can be able to pair two speakers which is a plus for someone like me. It doesn't have that popularity as the JBL brand, but I was quite impressed by its features, and it looks like it is the one that I would be getting soon.

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by George on Sat, 28 Mar 2026 05:29:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Prince wrote on Thu, 20 November 2025 08:31Prince wrote on Tue, 11 November 2025 06:49I would recommend two for you. The first one is the Miatone Drum Shower Speaker, which has the waterproof feature with a 15W loud sound. It also has Bluetooth 5.3 connectivity. My daughter has been making use of it at college and has sent zero complaints since I got it for her last year.

My wife got the JBL Clip 4 as a gift for me on my birthday a few months ago and while I've not used it for many years, the battery life of this device has been strong which is something that I commend the company for making.

Those two are great, and I feel you should check them out with the hope that one of them fits into your budget.
Did you later check any of them?

I bought the JBL Clip 4, and it has been super good since then. My music experience anytime that I am in the bathroom has been awesome. I honestly wish I won't experience any drop in Bluetooth connection in the future as that's been my biggest concern with such devices.

Subject: Re: What is the best Bluetooth speaker for my bathroom?
Posted by Rusty on Fri, 29 May 2026 11:29:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Rodney Dangerfield, the comedian who never got no respect said his folks gave him a toaster and a radio to play with while taking a bath. No respect I tell ya.
Anyway, I don't linger much in the shower, but I make it a point to sing a ditty or two while washing the crud away. The water bill where I live has risen considerably where I live to compensate for upgrading the city water/sewer infrastructure.
