Subject: Do you watch older movies?
Posted by George on Thu, 23 Oct 2025 15:41:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I am specifically talking about movies that were made in the 80s and 90s. There are a lot of these movies that were quite interesting and can still be relevant today. Do you still watch any of those older movies? Which one is your preferred movie that you can watch multiple times?

Subject: Re: Do you watch older movies?
Posted by Helen on Sun, 26 Oct 2025 08:27:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I do watch older movies but not all the time. Whenever I'm watching older movies, I'm doing it to pass time and also learn what they did that the new era don't implement in this era. I don't have any specific movie name that I've watched multiple times and remembering movies name is so hard on me.

Subject: Re: Do you watch older movies?
Posted by George on Mon, 27 Oct 2025 15:12:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Helen wrote on Sun, 26 October 2025 03:27I do watch older movies but not all the time. Whenever I'm watching older movies, I'm doing it to pass time and also learn what they did that the new era don't implement in this era. I don't have any specific movie name that I've watched multiple times and remembering movies name is so hard on me.
It is great to watch older movies just for the memories that it bring. Snake in the Monkey's Shadow is one of the older movies that I've seen recently and it was really good watching such a movie.

Subject: Re: Do you watch older movies?
Posted by Bercle on Fri, 23 Jan 2026 18:51:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The thing is that I don't really like watching movies from the 80s or 90s again. They don't have those elements that the movies of today present.

I mean movies nowadays have better visuals, and I prefer the storytelling to that of older movies.

For example, I had a splendid time watching Everything Everywhere at Once, which was released in 2022. I like the amazing creativity of the movie. I rank it as good as Spider-Man: Across the Spider-Verse.

I can't place any older movies ahead of these new movies that I believe are of better quality.