I have an Aiwa PX-E855U belt driven turntable that has developed very poor tracking on LPs though it does fine with 45's. I cannot locate an owners manual nor any other useful info on how to repair this issue (short of stacking pennies on the stylus!). It just slides across the record as if it were coated with "black ice". Any thoughts?

What is the condition of your stylus? I'm not sure you can make any adjustments on a table like that, but if you can, see the link below for information on setup.
