Subject: Hey Wayne, what's up with this gizmo?
Posted by lon on Sun, 24 Sep 2006 17:34:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I just saw this thing at Tiger Direct.  No clue as to whether it'sworth the dough but it has solid 5 star reviews from buyers.Is this just black box snake oil or what?  I figured you'd know a scam from an actual functioning device.True that the software content is unknown, but I've put off rippingLP's for a long time due to setup problems and quality ofsound.  For instance, the review info says the software will split tracks.  I have Audiograbber which is supposed to do that but it never worked right.
Xitel INport HFL-I1-X1

Subject: Re: Hey Wayne, what's up with this gizmo?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 25 Sep 2006 05:16:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's just an ADC designed to connect using a USB port.  The price isn't bad, so I don't think there's any harm checking it out.  Let us know what you think if you get one.

Subject: Re: Hey Wayne, what's up with this gizmo?
Posted by lon on Sat, 30 Sep 2006 19:12:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, unless there's a Krugerand inside it, anything that smallisn't worth 60 balloons.  But it might go on deal at TigerDirect.My home studio is still a long way from completion.  A toy like thatwould be somewhere in my future when the turntable is set up.