They are called "The Rockets", and they sure do the job !!! These are some pics taken at the driver install stage. It's difficult to take a good pic with them lying on their backs on the floor. Drivers are just sitting there, no x-o or anything yet

Looks cool! After you get the crossovers installed let us know how it sounds.

Up and running, and sounding really good... to me. I will have to wait until a couple of other pairs of ears come back from holidays to give a final verdict though.
