Everyone is invited to join us at my house in Houston on Saturday, April 16th, for the Lone Star Bottleheads meeting. You can find information, directions and pictures from past meetings at our web site in the link below. First timers are especially welcome. Our guest for this meeting is Vladimir Bazelkov of Audio Mirror, maker of hand assembled high end vacuum tube equipment. Vlad's web site is <http://www.audiomirror.com/>

Do you know if Audio Mirror is planning to attend GPAF? I telephoned and spoke to someone in Vlad's family, but then got busy and forgot to follow up.

Looks like he will not be able to make it to the GPAF this year. Too bad, I was at house today for a Houston Audio Society meeting, and the quality and prices of his electronics are too good to be true. He opened the top of the line/phono preamp and all the caps in the signal path are Auricap's. I will nudge him again at the Bottlehead meeting next week. But I did get a message from Anthony and Chris at Element Cables that they plan to exhibit at the GPAF. A fellow member of the Houston Audio Society brought a pair of their cables to one of our meetings and they compared favorably to others costing up to $500, so I ordered a pair for myself (for $49).
