Bummer news! DDS Horns has moved their base of operations from south Seattle (about a half-hour drive from my home) to someplace in Texas! Now, I have to pay shipping like everybody else! Poor me....Does anyone know if DDS simply moved, or if it was sold to another party? They don't seem to be very good about answering e-mails.

Well, that really sucks monkey butt! Selling a business AND moving it ALWAYS means that prices go up! Plus, a relocation that close to the border could imply the use of less expensive labor, leading to a possible decline in quality. We can only wait & see what the future holds for DDS. In the meantime, there's always TR Audio in Canada....

Yeah it really does suck but most of the time there is nothing we can really do about it, ya know. Hopefully if the prices go up so does the quality but we all know how that goes.
