Subject: Double Horns-- here is the real deal
Posted by lon on Wed, 28 Jul 2004 03:20:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Many fine pieces of craftsmanship at this site.
Cain and Cain ES

Subject: Beautiful!
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 28 Jul 2004 08:45:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Subject: Re: Double Horns-- here is the real deal
Posted by GarMan on Wed, 28 Jul 2004 15:41:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Are there any examples of speakers with both front and back horns, loaded by the same driver?

Subject: Re: Double Horns-- here is the real deal
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 28 Jul 2004 19:37:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yep, that's a single driver thing. Front-load for HF, rear-load for LF. I can't think of examples right now 'cause it's really not my bag. But I've seen plenty of them. I'm sure someone will jump in pretty quick with some specific examples.

Subject: You bet!
Posted by Poindexter on Thu, 29 Jul 2004 01:43:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You got to see the ones with the sunburst finish; breathtaking!Poinz

Subject: Re: Double Horns-- here is the real deal
Posted by GM on Thu, 29 Jul 2004 22:13:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are others, including some sold by manufacturerers in recent years, but this is a well done example:GM http://home.vicnet.net.au/~macinc/alf1.htm

Subject: Re: Double Horns-- here is the real deal
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 30 Jul 2004 14:03:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Great link, GM, thanks!