Would like to hear some ideas for a new speaker project---i am interested in the 2.5 Proac clones --Tons of info and they seem to be tube fireindly too---(they are????--right?) But I would like to hear from the think tank crowd that before I plunge into a 2-way project is there a single speaker project or build that takes me somewhere over the Fostex FE206E---I have really enjoyed these speakers --especially since I added the BSC (the one for the 206) --and I am really thinking of a project too--since I have a cabinet guy to do the build---I saw some 206's in a horn box on Audigon recently but they are gone (always happening when ya don't have the $$$) What about FE208's or 200's in a BF design??? major step up??? your thoughts.....JD

It's like a BK-116 or something...around $700. Great deal. I've heard it's pretty good...though never heard one. -akhilesh
