Does anyone know of any Fostex full range speakers that are only sold in Japan? I've heard rumors that they reserve their best stuff for themselves. I'm going over there this winter and I was just curious if anyone else here had heard about this. Thanks for any replies.

I'd heard that the 208ESigma was initially only available in Japan. I haven't heard that about any other drivers.You could go to the Fostex .jp site and see if there are any model numbers not available from Madisound.

Hi DanTheMan,You might want to try sending an Email to EIFL in Japan, they seem to be in the know about the latest and greatest from Fostex.Keep us informed about what you find out.Good LuckNorris Wilson

Thanks for the responses. I'm going to email EIFL--hopefully they have some good news. I'm going to go to their store and HiFi Do too while I'm there. Does anyone know of other cool shops there? I hear there are alot in Akihabara--I'll see. Also, does anyone know of an exceptionally good deal on a digital camera. I'm looking for something under $400. I would like to find something that has a really good lense and 3-4 megapixs--more if possible. I really just don't know much about digital cameras--sorry for the off topic question, but I've been reading this site for a few months and feel like someone here will probably know what's a good deal. Should I post this question elsewhere? Thanks again!
