HI,ANyone here ever used saba speakers or coaxials. I bought an old german radio from the 1950's, and LOVED it's tone. I then discovered a hard core bunch of addicts online that swear by the tone of these german speakers. I just bought a set of saba coaxial speakers (piecemeal, they are very expensive to get in pairs). Anyone ever hear saba or other speakers? Any opinions?Once I am done with my project (sealed box woofer then OB radio speaker, then dome tweeter), i'll let you know my listening impressions. For now, suffice it to say the german radios I have heard have great tone, flesh out the strings and horns very nicel indded, as also the voice. They suck at frequency extremes though, and need a woofer till about 100 hz, as also something over 10 khz usually Any one else ever experienced these?
