Which is why he has not been able to respond to emails. Otherwise, I am sure he woould have... he is a super nice guy. He does have some dca 5.5 in stock, which is good. He should be back in commission in a few months, if all goes well. Please pray for his health...as I tell him, he has a lot more to contribute to our fine hobby. That ultimate single driver speaker that bends the laws of physics still awaits. -akhilesh

Will certainly wish him a quick return to good health. Will someone be sending out speakers for him? I sent him some money yesterday for a pair of the dca4's.

OK thanks, not trying to rush him or anything llke that. I've got other projects and don't mind waiting on the drivers.
