They appear to be quite an experienced & amicable company. I found myself very interested in their "FR-260 Box", for what I do that box looks like it'll be perfect, but I still hate to spend that kinda money on something I have not heard. If anyone had any experience with this company "Please Chime in here" I will appreciate it. You can look at that box by going to (LOUDSPEAKERBUILDER.COM ; then to Library (on left), then to Full range (Skroll to bottom). Thank you in advance, Mark

Great link, thanks! It looks like they'll build any custom loudspeaker cabinet, so you can send in your drawings or use one of their existing prefabricated boxes. I see they can provide cabinets unfinished or with a polyurethane paint finish. I wonder if they might be willing to do anything with an attractive furniture grade finish? I just might have to ask them and see.
