Subject: new array project
Posted by Rick Craig on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 05:02:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've purchased the HiVi drivers and will post updates.

Subject: Re: new array project
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 13:27:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Will plans for this project be posted anywhere?

Subject: Re: new array project
Posted by Rick Craig on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 14:28:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In the past I've done that but probably not with this project. If anyone is interested in the prototype drivers and crossovers I'll offer a nice discount.

Subject: Sponsored forums
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 15:12:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I see. Well, the problem is you can't post commercial posts here, even with a nice discount. You can discuss technical matters but you cannot announce new product designs here. If someone asks about one of your products, you can reply to their specific questions but you cannot announce or promote commercial products or services. It would be unfair to others with small companies that make speakers like yours.AudioRoundTable.com Posting RulesI have a support forum here, and I can talk about anything I want there. But as for the open forums, I limit myself to discussions about technical matters. For example, I can talk about what happens between multiple sound sources of various sizes at various distances. I can talk about nonlinear driver motion and how distortion is made. I can talk about designs that improve those areas, and thereby promote ideas. Those ideas may very well be the ones I've employed in my speaker designs. But I cannot talk about my speaker designs themselves in the open discussion forums on ART. Only in my sponsored forum, which I use as a company support forum and a sort of a blog.Open forums are for discussion of ideas. Sponsored forums are more dedicated to a specific manufacturer. They are for commercial announcements, product support and things like that.

You can discuss ideas in them too, but they're still more specific to a single designer or company. If you'd like, we can set up a sponsored forum for you here.

Subject: Re: Sponsored forums
Posted by Rick Craig on Tue, 18 Sep 2007 15:44:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sorry - didn't mean to cross the line. I appreciate your efforts with providing a site like this.
