Subject: ISO reasonably good fullsize, inexpensive headphones...
Posted by mhardy6647 on Fri, 06 Feb 2004 23:22:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

... not the usual search, so please don't suggest the usual suspects (e.g., Grados or multi-hundred dollar Sennheisers).My son has a pair of Radio Shack 'Rock n Roll Hall of Fame' phones that he quite likes. Unfortunately, they were damaged beyond good repair in an unfortunate incident (not his fault). He'd like to find a replacement pair of fullsize sealed cup phones with a single, coiled cord (like the R/S phones). I'd like to find something in the $50-ish price range. We'd both like them to sound good, but in fact they don't have to sound any better than the R/S phones (which I thought were a little bass-heavy and rolled off at the top for my taste). Any suggestions?Any Subject: Re: ISO reasonably good fullsize, inexpensive headphones...

Posted by akhilesh on Sun, 08 Feb 2004 18:12:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,The grados in the $50 range are highly recommended. the grado SR60 is great. Based only on unaminous reviews i have read and seen the speed at which they disappear on web sites that sell them. -akhilesh

Subject: Second on the Grados (nt)
Posted by GarMan on Tue, 10 Feb 2004 15:29:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

nt

Subject: Yes, go with the Grados (nt)
Posted by newsjeff on Mon, 01 Mar 2004 01:57:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I bought the SR-60s on Audiogon for $45 delivered. I added new pads, which were a great and cheap improvement. IMHO, they are one of the best bag for the buck buys in audio today.