

---

Subject: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Ricardo on Tue, 22 May 2007 13:55:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I only have a couple small MP3 players with 512 meg of memory, plus one of them takes an SD card. I think the most memory they have is 2 gigs. How much memory do you think is sufficient for your personal MP3 player? Some of these iPod sizes seem a little like overkill to me.

---

Subject: Re: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 27 May 2007 18:47:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The more memory you have, the more songs you can store. Higher quality files are larger too.

---

Subject: Re: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Shane on Sun, 03 Jun 2007 15:37:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Depends what you want to do. Lots of people put their whole catalog on them at a very high quality, so 60 gig is nice. I can get by with 2 gig myself. I can put 100 or so songs on at CD quality bitrate which works great. I am constantly swapping out songs on it so the lower memory works fine. I usually only listen to 5-10 different artists at any one time and then when I'm tired of them move on to somebody else.

---

Subject: Re: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Ricardo on Mon, 18 Jun 2007 12:46:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Sorry, I meant how much memory do you actually use? My music collection exists on CD and DVD, but if I hadn't bought the disks, I guess it's conceivable I'd want to store it all on an iPod or other device. Two or three gigs is probably plenty for me.

---

Subject: Re: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Gilipsie on Thu, 04 Oct 2007 18:37:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I have over 10,000 songs stored. It depends on what you are working with as far as music is concerned.

---

---

Subject: Re: How Much Memory Is Sufficient?
Posted by Crystal on Tue, 23 Oct 2007 04:33:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I love music and all types of music. I think that I would need atleast 1 Gb of space. I would use the 512 MB though, I would just replace the music every few days or so. Crystal

---