Why does Speaker Workshop make totally different graphs when gated from farfield, even outdoors? I would understand if I was inside (reflections) or if I was using different mics or setup but even if I do everything the same, just switch from gated to farfield and the results are VERY different.

Check your gating. It is possible that one of your markers is set in an unrealistic position. Can you posts response graphs or write to me with them off-forum?

Thanks for your help Wayne. You were right about the marker, esp. the stop marker.
