Subject: A properly aligned FM Tuner!
Posted by 3moons on Tue, 03 Jan 2006 00:00:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ever wonder what it would be like to go that extra mile with a proper alignment? A serious alignment? I'm not talking about leaving possibly defective ceramic filters in place and aligning as best as possible in that situation. I'm talking about having it aligned like it will be your LAST FM tuner. I'm talking about selected, tested, matched filters like Bob and Bill and Ed and Ken and ....? do. This isn't important only to DX'ers but to the rest of us as well. My, hopefully, final KT-7500 will soon be shipped out for such an upgrade. Eric has just loaded my review of a Mitsubishi DA-F20 stock compared to one aligned by our very own Bob. Link below to the review.http://www.fmtunerinfo.com/moddedtuners.html#DA-F20
Modified tuner review