
Subject: Stewart Warner Model 01-6G1
Posted by Bill B. on Tue, 11 Jan 2005 23:14:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,I'm hoping that someone out there can help me with some Information about a radio I got years ago from my grandfather. It Is a Stewart Warner model 01-6G1Can anyone tell me what year it was manufactured?It has police aircraft and amateur aircraft bands so I'm pretty sure it isn't much older than the 40'sIt also has foreign and regular domestic bands.Thanks for any help you could provide me.Bill B.

Subject: Re: Stewart Warner Model 01-6G1
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 12 Jan 2005 00:36:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's cool! I love my old Stewart Warner radio, it's one of my favorites.1939 Stewart Warner Radio Model 13-5ULooking in my Rider collection, I find a model 01-6K1 in Volume 14. It is a multi-band radio using 6 tubes. Perhaps yours is similar. Do you have a photo you can post? What tubes are used?

Subject: Re: Stewart Warner Model 01-6G1
Posted by Bill B. on Wed, 12 Jan 2005 01:01:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

how can I attach a picture to one of these posts?

Subject: Attaching photos
Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 12 Jan 2005 10:44:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

See the link below.Attaching photos
