Natalie (at Embassy Suites) and I have started talking about this year's Great Plains Audiofest. It's set for May 5, 6 and 7th at the Embassy Suites in Tulsa. Same place as last year, same first weekend in May.Last year, we didn't stay through Sunday but this year we're planning to do so. There were people that came on Sunday only to find us all tearing down. So we're planning to run through Sunday this year, and to leave the exhibitor rooms open. We're also planning to schedule seminars on Sunday, so let me know if you're interested in doing one. These seminars have proven to be very effective ways for exibitors and hobbyists to educate and introduce new material, or to re-acquaint folks with your old favorites and product histories.I'm looking forward to seeing you all there!
