Subject: Happy virus ending and a heads up for others
Posted by Bill Epstein on Fri, 13 Jan 2006 23:41:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Norton had ben on my computer for a couple of years but I didn't renew the subscription back in October. Figger'd I was going to upgrade anyway. Then the virus/worm hit. Adaware, Spybot, EZ Armor, VGA, none found the problem. Xoft found a worm but tried "extortion".So I went back to the Norton site and downloaded a 15 day trial. It updated itself, scanned and effortlessly removed the problem. And didn't try to extort any money. Most of us, including me, love to hate the establishment: Microsoft, the State Dep't, Gallo:), but sometimes market dominance occurs for very good reasons.I'm a Norton customer again.

Subject: Re: Happy virus ending and a heads up for others
Posted by Leland Crooks on Sat, 14 Jan 2006 02:00:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Before you buy it do check some reviews. I have it running several machines and it's a system hog. If you're not doing intensive stuff it's no big deal. CCAPP runs in the background along with other system resource stealers. I'm probably going to change when my sub runs out.

Subject: Re: Happy virus ending and a heads up for others
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sat, 14 Jan 2006 16:51:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Super deal! Glad to hear you didn't have to re-install the OS.