For this year I'll bring a CD Player, DAC, preamp, amp, and a pair of high efficiency speakers, and will be hosting a "Show and Tell" electronics room. Everyone is invited to bring your favorite amp, preamp, CD player, DAC, etc. and share its glorious sound with members of the Dallas Audio Club, Lone Star Bottleheads, and everyone else. All kinds of components are welcome including DIY, built-from-a-kit, store-bought, tube, solid state, class D chips, etc. Y'all come!

At this point I'm still planning on coming. I've got a stock Millett Hybrid headphone amp and should have my Headwize SOHA headphone amp cased up and done by then if anyone wants to bring their set of cans and give a listen. Be warned, the SOHA will be set for my low-Z AKG K240s, so I have no idea how they might sound with Senn's (hopefully the volume will be enough as right now full volume is just at the point of clipping using a PCDP for a source.) Also, I can bring my NAD Bee CDP as a source if I need to. If I'm lucky and get mucho guidance from Damir, Pak, and the rest of ya'll I might have a 6EM7 SE amp done by then, too.
