I have an Airline console radio, not sure when it was made. Beleive it's a model 62-68 and not able to find anything on it nor where to get tubes. I have a picture of it, if anyone would like to see it.

I'd love to see it. Post a photo if you can.As for a source of tubes, try BOI Audioworks. For any you can't find there, try Antique Electronic Supply. You'd be surprised how inexpensive they are. It won't cost much to re-tube your radio. When you do, keep the old tubes and try them one at a time to find out which ones still work. You might be surprised how many of them still do.
