I keep forgetting to look through my books to see if I can find one. When I look through the forums here, I always make a mental note but then later forget. Can you post a picture of it?

Found out it was a 1938 yes running order originally battery operated converted to electric. original knobs and cloth. Has Zenith tubes in it question when was the 1st RCA produced & when did they start using their own tubes & what do you think it mite be worth. Wayne can you post the pic I sent you Tks.

You might upload the photo to a free image host like ImageShack.com or PhotoBucket.com. The use the intructions here to display the picture in a post. RCA has been making radios for a long time, since the 1920's.
