I recently purchased this item. I have been doing some searching for another faceplate that surrounds the dial. It is plastic and was all melted. If you need schematic for this model I can make you a copy. I did some hunting for same and I found a source. As I gain more info on restoring this I will gladly share it with you. Thanks Mike

I have this radio and am trying to find any information about it, especially what it's worth. It seems as though there's very little info about these radios out there. Any help would be appreciated, thanks!
