I've been talking with Eric Barbour in other AudioRoundTable.com forums, mostly about different tubes and articles he's written in Vacuum Tube Valley magazine. But I somehow managed to overlook his excellent website, www.Metasonix.com. There you'll find guitar preamps, synthesizers, effects and other cool stuff. Check it out!

The sound you hear when you first click to the website really startled me. But then I clicked on the Agonizer link, I realized that was nothing.One thing I like about Eric is his sensitivity for political correctness.
