i am planning on buying my first marshall amp soon. i currently playing a 15 watt vox valvetronix amp.im thinking about buying the marshall mg100dfx. the guitar i play is a fender strat and a carvin (not sure what year or modle). i want to get that "fender+marshall sound" but im not sure if this amp will do that.i also play at small gigs but i have to put my amp through a PA system so you can hear it. i want and amp that be loud, with good tone. loud enough to hear at gigs i play at.so the questions i have are, will this marshall give me the "marshall sound?" will it give me what i am looking for? (consider price for this, too)is this amp loud enough to gig with?build quality?thanks to those who reply.
