

---

Subject: DDX3216 ANYONE?

Posted by pgolde on Thu, 06 Apr 2006 19:37:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Is anyone using the Behringer DDX3216 digital mixer? I just picked one up cheap from someone's unused studio, a few years old, mint condition, hasn't been plugged in in years. I am looking for tips, war stories, problems, limitations, fears? I will be running it off a APC UPS power supply, and am currently looking for a decent case. They seem to be sold out everywhere you look for them, but I don't hear much about them. That might be good news, oh well, for what I paid, it's pretty much a disposable unit, I do have an analog backup worst case. Thanks

---

Subject: Re: DDX3216 ANYONE?

Posted by Chris R on Wed, 18 Apr 2007 20:42:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

As far as I know these are now banned by the FCC (rumor!, rumor!). They are available outside the US, but not in the US anymore. Read through Usenet groups for rec.audio.pro. There were a lot of discussions. Vague memory is that it's well liked but not perfect.