Subject: Are you like me?
Posted by wunhuanglo on Sun, 18 Apr 2004 20:28:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As contrasted with "Do you like me?".Are you lazy? Impatient?Do you have low minimum standards for acceptable aesthetics?Is your wife/significant other incredibly accepting of his/her living space?Then forget the inferiority-complex inducing pursuit of trying to emulate Martinelli or Epstein. Surrender to the dark side, characterized by being the easy way out (as usual).This stuff is GREAT!
http://www.partsexpress.com/pe/showdetl.cfm?&DID=7&Partnumber=260-010

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Nouri on Tue, 22 Mar 2016 17:42:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's not every day that you see 12 year old sales pages still up and clickable.

Boss is a very trusted and reliable brand (no, I don't work for or with them) so I guess I'm not that surprised to see them there.

But still.....who needs 300 watts?

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by The Noise on Wed, 27 Apr 2016 21:30:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

A Boss

The kids these days with their low riders and tricked out Honda Accords. They're the main offenders, and then you have your average working Joe who shares the 2 bedroom apartment with 8 other people so he can afford to drive around with a system like he has something to prove.

That would be my guess.

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Csharp on Sun, 15 May 2016 12:44:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You get it for the bragging rights. Like the people with $300 dollar sports shoes. You don't need them, no one NEEDS 300 dollar shoes, you just want them really bad.

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Thaddeus on Thu, 26 May 2016 16:08:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The Noise wrote on Wed, 27 April 2016 16:30A Boss

The kids these days with their low riders and tricked out Honda Accords. They're the main offenders, and then you have your average working Joe who shares the 2 bedroom apartment with 8 other people so he can afford to drive around with a system like he has something to prove.

That would be my guess.

I know exactly what you are talking about. There is a large group of kids that hang out at our local Dunkin Donuts and I could see one of them having these in the back of their car. It's very interesting that the lights glow to the beat of the bass. I wouldn't be caught dead with these in my ride!

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Vaiger on Tue, 02 Aug 2016 09:35:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thaddeus wrote on Thu, 26 May 2016 11:08The Noise wrote on Wed, 27 April 2016 16:30A Boss

The kids these days with their low riders and tricked out Honda Accords. They're the main offenders, and then you have your average working Joe who shares the 2 bedroom apartment with 8 other people so he can afford to drive around with a system like he has something to prove.

That would be my guess.

I know exactly what you are talking about. There is a large group of kids that hang out at our local Dunkin Donuts and I could see one of them having these in the back of their car. It's very interesting that the lights glow to the beat of the bass. I wouldn't be caught dead with these in my ride!

And then because of all the aftermarket distractions, they have an accident and wind up in the hospital. Between that bill and raised insurance rate, they end up selling the car for scrap so they can pay the bills.

Reality has a way of turning off the lights

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by drake on Tue, 16 Aug 2016 19:20:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No way I am going to have those near my car(they look scary). Perhaps a younger version of myself would have liked this. However, the Boss brand is a good and reputable one and I think that we get value for money when purchasing their products.

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by chatzy02 on Sat, 05 Nov 2016 02:53:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No one needs them, but we all want them, don't we. If we are honest with ourselves, there's a lot of stuff in our houses that we wanted but didn't need. It's just nice to have.

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Cortney on Sat, 05 Nov 2016 03:03:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I guess it all comes down to a matter of personal preference (and age...) but having said that, you still can't deny that it's real quality products and good value for money.

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by GoldenOldie on Thu, 06 Jul 2017 20:20:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm in agreement that it is probably our age and the fact that we are now more into impressing our bosses not the other kids around the neighborhood. I, myself, am going sheik not sheen!

Subject: Re: Are you like me?
Posted by Amber on Tue, 25 Jul 2017 03:27:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes these days people love to brag and show off what they got. Showing off has put a lot of people in debt these days when they could've settled for something cheaper.