

---

Subject: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 09 Jun 2006 15:53:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Last night, Fred and Linda Thompson and I went to see their sons' band, "Low Rent", who performed in Austin. Awesome, Andy and Matt are excellent! Not just saying that either, they are really good. Can't wait for the CD. Anyway, while eating before the show, we discussed the possibility of moving GPAF to Dallas for next year's show. The venue is larger and we would likely have a larger turnout. I'm happy with how GPAF has been the last two years, but a bigger show in Dallas would be good too. Maybe we could alternate venues every year, I dunno. So I'm throwing this out to you all for feedback. What I would really like to retain is the grass roots "Woodstock" feel of the show, and the absolute lack of fees. I don't like the idea of a promoter turning the show itself into a revenue source. I like the idea of a venue where the smaller niche companies can set up and show up, and a thousand dollar entry fee added to the transportation costs is prohibitive. So I would like to see free admission for exhibitors retained no matter where the show is done. The thing is, if we move to Dallas, we'll need a "point man" or two. Fred volunteered, but he lives in Houston. So we thought we could maybe ask Jim Rivers, and since he wasn't there to defend himself, he was an easy target. Or maybe Russ or someone else, or maybe a few people could get involved. It's a big job, to tell the truth. You have to arrange with the folks at Embassy Suites and you have to send out press releases. I bought a bunch of signs and set them around the city, that helps a lot too. But planning and organization isn't a trivial amount of work, even when as loosely done as GPAF always has been. I'd be willing to host the web space, same as I've always done. I've already obtained a "LoneStarAudiofest.com" domain name in anticipation. We can tie it to the GPAF and ART website, probably link in the Texas clubs sites too. So now I'm looking for feedback from everyone. What do you all think? Could we find support for this? Is it something we're interested in doing? We'll definitely have GPAF next year, first weekend in May. The only question is where. Would it be better suited for a larger venue like Dallas, maybe morph it into a LSAF? Or do we leave it as it is, and keep GPAF in Tulsa? Let me know your thoughts.

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Bob Spence on Fri, 09 Jun 2006 19:52:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Wayne, I will be happy to be a part of the Committee in Dallas to make this happen if there is an interest by the others. Bob Spence

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by FredT on Fri, 09 Jun 2006 21:23:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I raised this issue with Wayne because as much as I like Tulsa, I believe the location limits the show's potential. The number of potential visitors who live in the Tulsa area, or who are willing to drive or fly to Tulsa from another metropolitan area, is the limiting factor. Moving the show to Dallas would make it possible to attract more visitors from the DFW area plus a significant number from Austin, Houston, San Antonio, etc. I also agree strongly that it's a good idea to keep the show oriented toward small non-mainstream manufacturers/designers who sell their products primarily over the internet. A show like the GPAF/LSAF can be useful to these sellers because it provides an opportunity for people who otherwise could only read about their products to see, hear and touch them. But this can only work if a significant number of people visit the show. Another consideration is that there are several important and highly regarded manufacturers in the DFW area, Houston, Austin, etc who might participate if they believed a significant number of potential customers would be there. I really would like to see Dodd Audio, GR Research, Audio Mirror, Silver Circle Audio, etc. as exhibitors, and if the show were in Dallas this should be a no-brainer to them considering the cost to participate is only the cost of the hotel room plus gas to get there - no $1K show promoter's fees. They would also get a good buzz on the audio forums too as a result of participating.

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by akhilesh on Fri, 09 Jun 2006 22:47:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I think Dallas will probably attract a larger crowd. IT will of ocourse limit attendance by local Tulsans, but I guess there will be more than enough dallas folk ot make up for it. -akhilesh

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Shane on Fri, 09 Jun 2006 23:15:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I like the idea, mainly cuz it's just a little closer. It might not limit some of the Tulsa crowd as much if a group of you went together. We have a primitive archery rendevous in Marshall, Mo which is about a 90 minute drive east of Kansas City that attracts people from all over the world. I mean like 5-600 people for 4 days. Many, many of them travel in a group to share gas costs, etc....And they bring truckloads of gear, materials and the like as well.

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by 3moons on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 01:28:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

In for a penny, in for a pound. I'm in. I like the committee concept. I will be honored to be a part of the "team". I would like to talk with Wayne and Fred privately, of course. My daughter is expecting her first baby in December, in Florida. And (just in case) a group, rather than one person, helping organize sounds like a sane approach. I've already emailed key members of the Dallas Audio Club and close friends a link to this post. Let the preparations begin. The Dallas Audio Club will have a room, of course
Dallas Audio Club

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by wardsweb on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 02:49:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Sounds great to me. I would drive up from San Antonio for a meet in Dallas. Maybe even haul a truck load of gear and speakers for a vinyl listening room. It has real possibilities.

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Norris Wilson on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 05:37:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I for one, am always eager to take part in any event such as GPAF.Tulsa and our general region has been long over due for such an event.I enjoy the grass roots "Woodstock" feel of the event, as Wayne put it.But, my concern with moving to Dallas and possibly growing the attendance dramatically. Is, the Woodstock feeling would no longer exist. That it would morph into something much more zoo like in nature.And ultimately, it would become about the money.The one on one personal communication with the designer and audio enthusiast, would be hard to support under such conditions.The fun and thrill would be gone for me if the event grew too large and impersonable.But, count me in for now where ever you hold the event.Norris

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by 3moons on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 11:48:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Very understandable. Wayne is the top dog in this pack. Whatever his final decision is great with me. Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Dallas, McKinney,TX, Burns Flat,OK. Hey, I have fond memories of listening to some great vinyl while stationed at Burn Flat in 1968. jim...

---

---

Subject: Sounds like a plan

Posted by Wayne Parham on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 14:38:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It looks like everyone is pretty excited about this possibility. I'll call the Dallas Embassy Suites next week and make the initial approach. The plan we worked out with Natalie Doss in Tulsa is simple - We don't want a contract for a single person to buy up all the rooms and then resell them; Rather, we want a deal where everyone buys their own room under an assigned block (GPA in Tulsa, maybe LSA in Dallas). If there are more than a specific number of rooms bought then they agree to comp us the conference room. Embassy Suites was very receptive to this in Tulsa since it was an easy way to sell a bunch of rooms in a weekend. The only thing is, we have to check availability of the first weekend in May. That was a good weekend for Tulsa, and I hope it is for Dallas as well. I'll call and make the initial approach and introduce them to the idea, then maybe we can all get together and hash out some details for the rest of the planning, press releases, advertisement signs, maybe print ads and what not. I'm willing to donate some (time and money) resources to this deal same as the last couple of years, and I thank each of you 'cause I can see you're in there with me too!

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change

Posted by Russ on Sat, 10 Jun 2006 14:52:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Do it, I'll help any way I can - hell, I'd set up a room myself.

---

Subject: Re: Sounds like a plan

Posted by FredT on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 00:09:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There appear to be several people in Dallas, and me in Houston, who are volunteering to help you with the work involved in setting up and coordinating the event. Since you have done it twice and know what's involved, I suggest that after you have confirmed the hotel's ability to accommodate us, you should play more of an executive role, assigning duties and tasks to us individually rather than trying to do it all yourself. So don't feel like you're imposing when you ask me, Jim, or anybody else to do something that requires some time and effort. The reciprocal responsibility for anybody who's asked to do something is to say up front if you're not sure you can do it. If you do accept the task then you have a responsibility to complete it, or to ask for help immediately if it begins to appear you won't be able to. This may seem obvious to some, but in my experience the biggest problem in project management, is the well intentioned individual who accepts a responsibility, then finds himself in an unexpected crunch and doesn't ask for help until it's too late.

---

---

Subject: Re: Sounds like a plan
Posted by 3moons on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 02:27:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

OK, Wayne AND Fred. What Marriot do you have in mind? Should I go check it out for any surprises? I'll talk in person with Bob Spence and Russ Gates and ??? to see how deep each want to swim in this pool. Maybe we can start an off forum group email so this won't get too boring here? jim...

---

Subject: Re: Sounds like a plan
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 17:51:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I agree with you completely and think this is a great idea. I'll definitely do what you've said. Should have an answer from Embassy Suites early next week and then we'll start planing for LSAF '07. We might assign two people each task to prevent someone inadvertently dropping the ball. Of course, that opens the possibility that each assumes the other will do it, so neither takes action. But I know that in the past, the things that didn't get done fell into my lap. That's OK, but if I get behind then there's no backup. I think that's one of the things that makes the Dallas show so exciting. There are more people that can get involved with show preparation. We'll be able to do more to promote the event. And the market is bigger too, so there will be a bigger turnout. It will stay a grass roots "Woodstock" event. But it will just be bigger with more stuff to see and hear and more people to hang out with!

---

Subject: Re: Sounds like a plan
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:02:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

We're thinking about the Embassy Suites near DFW airport. We could also meet at the Embassy Suites in Grapevine. I love the hotel and room layouts at Embassy Suites. Nothing but suites; Just what we need for a show like this.

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:18:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

We won't let it get screwed up. You're a big part of it, and your voice is heard. You're already part of the steering committee, so please continue to voice your comments.

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:22:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Cool! 'Spose we could use your logo and look and feel for the LSAF website? I really love the look of your website, and it seems a natural fit. It's kinda your deal as much as anyone's.

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:24:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You can bring the whole family next year; Make it a family vacation. The kids will love Six Flags!

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:24:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks, Bob. We'll talk soon; I'll definitely ask for your participation. Sounds like it will turn out great!

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:25:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks, Russ. You're right there, so I'll definitely ask for your help. This is gonna be great!

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 18:26:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Gonna be great, isn't it?!!

---

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change
Posted by Bear-hifi on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 19:18:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Im in!!! Just let me know what you need for me too do....heck I will even set up a room as well.
;-0Frank

---

---

Subject: Wayne is this what you had in mind for the website?
Posted by wardsweb on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 15:16:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Same as my Lone Star Bottleheads website. I could even promote it from there.
Lone Star Audio Fest 2007

---

---

Subject: Beautiful Graphics
Posted by FredT on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 16:36:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Looks like something Harley Davidson might pay an ad agency megabucks to develop for them.
Great eye appeal.

---

---

Subject: ...did someone say mega bucks?
Posted by wardsweb on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 17:00:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'll await my check. LOL!

---

---

Subject: Re: ...did someone say mega bucks?

---

Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 17:05:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's awesome, I'd love to use it if that's cool.

---

Subject: progression in momentum

Posted by wardsweb on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 18:30:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Were you going to build the site or would you like me to? Do you have a hosting account for the 2007 fest? If you would like to discuss this offline, shoot me an email to wardsweb (at) yahoo.com

---

Subject: Re: progression in momentum

Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 13 Jun 2006 18:44:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks! I already have the site, but I would love your help. I'll write you this evening or tomorrow.

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change

Posted by harry4265 on Sat, 15 Jul 2006 07:53:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

no they are not doing it anhy more

---

Subject: Re: GPAF - LSAF - Possible Venue Change

Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 17 Jul 2006 13:32:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yes, it's on. Come see us in Dallas in 2007.

Lone Star Audiofest

---