
Subject: Popular Mechanics

Posted by Bill Epstein on Mon, 25 Sep 2006 21:46:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My partner at work came back to the design center Sunday with the latest issue. It had 2 incredible projects: a potato gun and a trebuchet. With time on our hands we picked all the parts for the spud gun, mostly PVC pipe and a BBQ igniter and got to work. Took about an hour. Working in a home center has some advantages. It'll be ready to fire tomorrow. Can't wait. S'posed to fire a spud at 300MPH! It was busier today but the trebuchet is almost done. Just 16" tall we're looking forward to hurling tulip bulbs at management.

Subject: That explains a lot

Posted by colinhester on Mon, 25 Sep 2006 23:48:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

....why I can never get help at those home centers.....C

Subject: Re: "Home Depot...America's Get It Yourself Warehouse"!*

Posted by Bill Epstein on Tue, 26 Sep 2006 13:26:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Subject: Re: "Home Depot...America's Get It Yourself Warehouse"!*

Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 26 Sep 2006 21:25:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's great! You gotta post a photo of the trebuchet. Maybe you can use it to hurl paint cans in the parking lot.
