Which country would you say is producing the best audio equipment at the moment? Is one country leading the field? Or does it just depend on the make?

I think it completely depends on the design & model of the piece you are talking about. Typically the USA & W. Germany/northern Europe produce the most EXPENSIVE equipment...whether that translates to best is in the ears of the listener. -akhilesh

Good one, first on the UN list - but how about Austria and Australia, probably larger in this Hi-Fi field? Anyway, I'm glad the we were helpful on this forum, as always...

Right. It doesn't surprise me that the USA and northern Europe produce the most expensive, as costs will be higher there.
