Boone---Yes sir, I do still have them and I can seend e-pics if you will e-mail at my address-I'll send you some pictures---I have a guy wanting to buy the horns without boxes and another guy wanting cabinets only but that is making a very hard way to sell speakers----I am finding that the Klipsch "click" is very devout, devoted, and a little out there.....this is a type of speaker people either ignore or rave about---some local guys here use them for the fronts to their HT system----which I think would be a good application for the type of speakers they are.....Jim----I'm in Tulsa --zip is 74136---to figure shipping expenses---figure about 65 lbs each
