Our local Big Lot's has about 10 rolls of 16awg Royal Cable, 120ft for $8 per roll. I use the 14awg stuff for all three sets of my speakers now and really like it, but has anyone used the 16 gauge? This is about 50% off what it is at Wally World so I was thinking I'd snag some up. Was thinking it might me nice to use on the internal wiring for speakers.

Bi-wire with the 16 ga.Or just use 2 runs not twisted to a single input.A big deal from Harry Pearson in the mid-eighties.I can't hear the diff but it couldn't hurt

What the heck. At only $8 I figure it's a great deal and will probably last me the next 10 years!

I'm using 16 guage- bought it at Wally's. Just didn't think I needed anything bigger for a 5' run from the 2A3's. Sounds fine to me.
