Wow! Mike, those photos of your trip to Auckland and the wedding were beautiful! Thanks for sharing that with us. Interesting Cambodian dress - It is always interesting to me to see the different clothing styles, both current and through the centuries.Can't believe that E-Mail you got about your IP being logged. We were just talking about Kazaa and copyrights, remember that? Do you think this is related to that? Do you think the E-Mail was for real, or do you think it was a prank? At any rate, I'm not sure I'd sweat it if I were you. Something tells me there ain't much here to sweat.Hey, about your basshorn, did you see the posts about low Fs drivers with improved motor structures? Lots of people talking about that JBL 1500. Somebody was talking about modeling it in a horn. There's also a new Eminence 10" subwoofer, so it might be great for one of your projects. And what about some of the Adire woofers? Seems like I remember you were talking about alternatives, so I was thinking about you when I read those threads in the High Efficiency and Pro Speakers forums.

No problem. I cant really order anything from the states,even though our dollar is so high,the shipping would be ~ 100$ ontop of the 250$ US price..too much,i paid 600$NZ for my 2226 and i cant use it on a horn..I dont think that was my real ip ;-) its kinda funny tho.my most fun spam letter is about the foreign guy wanting you to help him out and transfer some money for him and in return you get 1 million :PConsidering i have
