I'd like to ask a favor of those attending the LSAF. I'm interested in getting comparisons of the speakers offered by two of the builders who will be exhibiting, Duke LeJeune (AudioKinesis) and Bob Brines (Brines Acoustics). I've happily owned a pair of Brines FT-1600s for about two years, but I'm interested in finding out about other speakers. I'm particularly interested in comparisons of the FT-1600s and Bob's LT-2000s, and the FT-1600s and Duke's Jazz Modules. If anyone at LSAF listens to these speakers and cares to give me some feedback on how they compare, I'd really appreciate it. My system is in a basement rec room that is about 16 x 28 x 8. I listen to mostly classical (including symphonies), baroque, traditional country, new grass, folk, and jazz – not much rock or anything else that is heavily amplified.Thanks for your help.
