I would like for everyone to please say a prayer for all the victims of the tornado in Greensburg, KS. I grew up and spent most of my 37 years just 20 miles west of Greensburg and know people there and can't imagine my whole town being wiped out.....Shane

Oh my God, Shane. Sounds like lots of your long term friends were affected. They're in our thoughts; Keep us posted.

Here is a link to some aerial photos of the damage. The first shot in the series is pretty much the whole town. Unreal. People talk about a tornado taking out part of a town or such, and I've seen it happen and helped pick up in the aftermath, but I have NEVER seen a tornado take the WHOLE town.

The damage is overwhelming. Definitely gives one pause. I'm so sorry about that!

Yes of course, that is a tragedy. I seen it on the news and was in shock that it happened. I will pray for everyone and I know that we will be able to come together to make this a better situation.

The pictures are a good indication of the total damage. Years ago there was a small town in Ohio, called Xenia. A tornado came through similar to this one, and devastated the town. These pictures remind me of that.
